

FASHION DESIGN

During the Fashion Design course students will set out from the drawing of the human body, then they will be introduced to the representation techniques of the figurines on which they can develop the sketches of clothes.

The program continues with the study of models, accessories, decoration techniques, visual communication of fashion and the fundamental concepts of fashion marketing. Students will learn the theory and the symbology of color (scales, contrast, harmony) and the use of pantones, colored pencils, watercolors, chalk pastels.

Later they will study the fabrics, experimenting with the representation of the different types of material.

Eventually, based on the knowledge acquired, students will begin to create a collection, choosing and developing a theme.

The duration of the course may vary and the topics covered will be studied in depth according to the student's needs, the program indicated is only an example and it can be customized for every students.

To obtain satisfactory results and get to the preparation of the paper patterns, it is suggested the attendance of the course for at least 3 months in the Semi-intensive mode.
