

FASHION DESIGN

During the Fashion Design course students will set out from the drawing of the figurines on which they can develop the sketches of clothes.

The program continues with the study of models, accessories, decoration techniques and the visual communication of fashion. Students will learn how about colors, how to use them and combine them (scales, contrast, harmony), how to use pantones, colored pencils, watercolors, and other mediums suitable for their sketching.

Later they will study the fabrics, experimenting with the representation of the different types of material.

Eventually, based on the knowledge acquired, students will begin to create a collection, choosing and developing a theme and getting to see their ideas come to life.

The duration of the course may vary and the topics covered will be studied in depth according to the student's needs, the program indicated is only an example and it can be customized for every students.
